Mr. Speaker Sexton expressed his appreciation and addressed the body with the following remarks:

ADDRESS TO THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES HOUSE SPEAKER CAMERON SEXTON

Thank you, what a good day this is, thank you very much. I'd like to thank my family, friends and collegues and all those in attendance. I did hear that Speaker here is a very good fellow but he apologized that he was not able to make that vote today. I would like to say to Speaker Bill Dunn, thank you for your service and being the most successful Speaker we've had on creating jobs on a per-day basis that you were the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Tennesseeans have always answered the call - during the War of 1812, the federal government issued a call for 2,800 volunteers from Tennessee to preserve the honor and dignity of our country when the United States declared war on Great Britain.

30,000 Tennesseeans answered the call, and we would forever be known from that point forward as the "Volunteer State."

Over the last 207 years Tennesseans continue to answer the call - whether it was the 32 Tennesseans who gave their life for the independence of Texas at the Alamo, or Tennesseans like Ann Dallas Dudley, Abby Crawford Milton, Sue Shelton White, Lide Meriwether and Representative Harry T. Burns who answered the call from his mother Febb in making Tennessee the 36th state to ratify the 19th Amendment, giving women everywhere the legal right to vote.

Today, we are here to answer our call.

A call to work together for the betterment of Tennessee and our people. We all represent 65,000 Tennesseans who have bestowed a great trust on us to lead. Our job as representatives is to represent - serving the voices for all Tennesseans from west to middle to east - rural to urban.

Our call is to leave our great state in better shape than when we first arrived. We have paved a successful path forward over the years - record job growth, historically low unemployment, the lowest debt state in America, and the most fiscally responsible state in the Union.

Success today does not necessarilly mean success tomorrow. By answering the call to work together, respecting each other and communicating effectively, we will stay true to what has made Tennessee successful.

We should strive to work together as a body, as we should strive to work with our counterparts in the Senate, maintaining our uniformity, as well as our independence as part of the legislative body.

We must always be willing to work and communicate openly with the executive branch, while keeping in mind that our constitution is very detailed on the role and duties of each branch of government. Preserving our individualism as a separate branch is what our founders requested us to do.

The good news is we agree on a lot more than we disagree on. We all want great schools, great jobs, great infrastructure, and great healthcare. The challenge is - we will not always agree on the pathway to get there, but together we will get there.

In this chamber, I will always encourage robust but respectful debate on the pathway to the shared goals of all Tennesseans. Debate and conversations make us stronger. Respect for those on the other side will make us better - in our legislative lives, at home, and in our communities.

My promise as Speaker is simple: we won't always agree on every issue, but I will always make sure that your voice is heard.

When we look back on our service in this historic body - we all want to be remembered for the successes and accomplishments. If we are going to dwell - let's dwell on the good, on our future and the Tennesseans who have always answered the call before us.

Again, we have many great examples of Tennesseans answering the call - like Roberth R. Church Sr. After the 1878 yellow fever epidemic, Memphis had lost much of its tax base and the city was forced to give up its city's charter. Mr. Church was the first citizen to buy a bond in 1893 to restore the charter. Robert R. Church Sr. dedicated his life to the City of Memphis and was always willing to be the first one to step forward and answer the call.

As we are assembled here today, I challenge you to believe in yourself, believe in our purpose, believe in our service and believe in our great state.

I stand here today answering the call with you.

Thank you and God bless us.
